

Open Letter to the Pacific Crest Trail Association

July 17, 2020

Pacific Crest Trail Association
Sacramento, CA

Dear Pacific Crest Trail Association,

We are BIPOC hikers who are demanding changes from your organization. We are horrified by the PCTA's combination of delayed, anemic, and incorrect responses to racist posts in its Facebook group. While your post on July 16 is a step in the right direction, it does little to undo the harm created by years of allowing racist, sexist, homophobic, and transphobic comments and posts, nor does it undo the harm created by failing to address your organization's diversity issues in staffing, executive leadership, and board of directors until now.

While we hoped the PCTA would be a leader working to increase diversity on the trail and in the outdoors at large, we have instead found that its current tolerance for racism has contributed to perpetuating white supremacy and an outdoor culture of exclusion.

We hope that your recent sentiment to "join you in calling out any suggestion that racism does not exist (on the PCT and everywhere)" centers on looking at all parts of your organization and calling out your own systemic racism and making changes to reimagine these systems. As such, we have come together to make a list of first steps that the PCTA must take if it hopes to reverse these missteps and move towards being an agent of change and equity in the outdoor sphere.

Demands for the PCTA:

- Visible BIPOC representation at all levels of staffing, with a focus and emphasis on executive leadership and board of directors.
- Partner with a BIPOC social justice organization (ACLU, The BIPOC Project, etc.). Since the PCTA has near zero representation, they must partner with BIPOC lead organizations that can help them craft an anti-racism media & communications strategy.
- Create codified anti-racism, anti-discriminatory policies and procedures.
- Create official diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) statements
- Commit to DEI benchmarks and goals in your current and future strategic plans
- Create a list of or partner with an organization to create a list of on the ground thru-hiker support services that have signed on to an anti-racism/inclusivity commitment. This list is important so BIPOC thru-hikers/hikers know what organizations are safe for us.
- List of trail towns
- List of hostels
- List of thru-hiking services like shuttles, restaurants, etc.
- Safe places, etc.
- Create a dedicated resource for BIPOC thru-hikers to report racist incidents on trail, and a mechanism to report out either on their FB or website, so BIPOC thru-hikers and allies can be aware and make informed decisions on trail. This is in addition to reporting to local authorities, but the trail associations need to step up as well. A good collaborative local/state and trail association model is what the ATC did when the hiker was murdered last year.

Demands for all Facebook groups that are administered by the Pacific Crest Trail Association:

- Group admins
- Diverse group of additional admins and/or moderators. Must be from diverse gender and ethnic backgrounds.
- The admins must be numerous enough that a group is monitored almost all the time.
- Create a clear set of posted rules for admins to work with
- Clear communication between admins and the PCTA in order to be in complete unity on decisions made.
- Group moderation

- If there are no admins to monitor the group, temporarily mute the entire group.
- Establish a criteria for discipline and removal of group members.
- Ex. People that make racist, sexist, or homophobic comments or comments silencing BIPOC or LGBTQIA+ must be barred from commenting for a few days, and banned if they continue.
- Establish record keeping for infractions.
- Admins need to specify why they are muting or removing an individual, in order to indicate to the group that similar behavior will not be tolerated in the future.
- Remove individuals who are repeat harassers.
- Ground rules
- Create rules for all group that support and uphold your anti-racist statement expressed in your Facebook post on July 16, 2020, ensuring that rules are in place to support people of all gender identities, sexual orientations, and ethnic backgrounds.
- Acknowledge the BIPOC individuals who have donated their time to work with the PCTA to address the issues in the PCTA Facebook group and your organization at large.

Signed by BIPOC hikers and their supporters:
