How to Register for “Private” Projects

After a project has been reviewed by PCTA staff (moved to the “Posted” or “Reviewed, not Posted” status), crew leaders will see the following message appear when viewing their project:

You can send this link to interested volunteers for registration: https://phase2-pcta.cs200.force.com

This link can be copied and then sent to interested volunteers in any way that suits the crew leader: email, text message, etc.

Anyone with this link will be able to register for your project, so please bear this in mind when sharing it with others.

Upon clicking the link, a prospective volunteer can register for the project as they would when registering for a public project on the project schedule.

This link will appear for both public and private projects, but is specifically intended for crew leaders to share for their private projects, in place of having PCTA staff register volunteers.
